Oracle Pricelist Manager

Oracle Pricelist Manager is a PaaS-based Solution fully integrated with Oracle Supply Chain. This add-on is an excellent solution to quickly update multiple price lists for different regions, customers, and discounts with a single file upload.
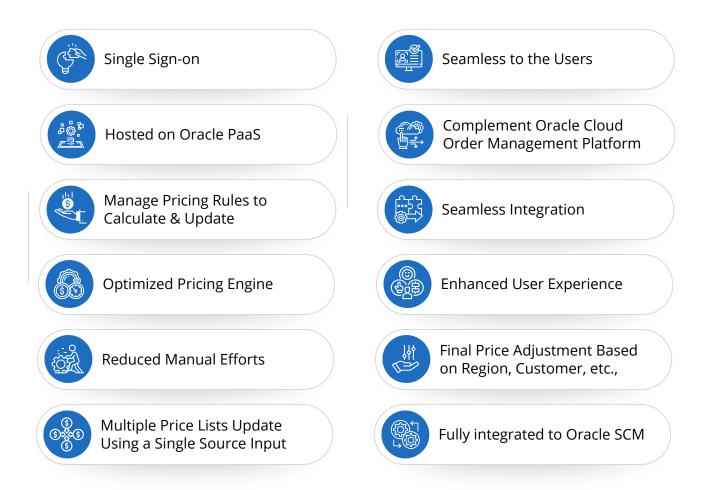

Every time prices changed, users updated different price lists manually for all the customers and regions. The manual task was both tedious and prone to errors.

Due to the lack of standard functionality in the Oracle Order Management solution, price lists were not automatically updated. To fill the product gap, Forsys developed Oracle Pricelist Manager that instantly mass updates price lists with a single source file.

Success Stories

A California-based video delivery technology and services company wanted to automatically update its Item Price on Multiple Price lists through a Single Source input. Forsys built Oracle Pricelist Manager for the customer and automatically updated all the price lists and manufacturing items. This custom integration reduced manual efforts by 80% and the client is not required to update the regional and customer price lists with applicable discounts individually.
